

an exploration of diasporism that invites us into more accountable land relationship

What is your journey of finding home? What is your relationship to the histories, ecologies and colonial legacies of where you are now?

What is your relationship to the sacred, historical & imagined space of Eretz Yisrael, the nation state of Israel, and the occupation of Palestine?

What are your ancestral stories of home and displacement? What is your relationship to these diasporic journeys, known and unknown?
